So the answer is yes, you can publish on any platform you want, but, as far as I know, you will need a different ISBN for any edition.

Dabs are much easier on my respiratory system than flowers, probably from the lack of plant material that is being inhaled, and the fact that it's being vaporized, not combusted.

The most common reasons punishments for drug convictions vary are from the schedule the substance is classified in and the amount of the substance the individual possessed during the offense.